FORWORD

We, the Senior Class of 1951, have prepared this, the twenty-first issue of "Memories", for the members of the Faculty and Student-body.

We have chosen a "Mountaineer" theme for this issue of "Memories". We chose this theme for the enjoyment of the reader.

The Annual Staff, and the members of the Senior class, sincerely hope that you will read and enjoy this book. We hope it will be a lasting memory of your days at Horace Mann.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

On September 9, 1947, the forty-three members of the future class of '51 started into Horace Mann for the first time. The Freshman initiation was our first main event. In February the Freshman Class gave an assembly. Our class officers consisted of the following people: President, Alfred O'Connell; Vice President, Virgil Wood; Secretary, Mary Lu Valk; Treasurer, Betty Hainey; Reporter, Barbara Beaver; Seargent-at-arms, Ronald Pfof; Student council members, Phyllis Hansen and Larry Morehouse. Our class sponsors were Miss Margaret Franken and Mr. David Crozier.

Our second year we started out with thirty-eight students. New officers were elected. They were President, Larry Morehouse; Vice President, Phyllis Hansen; Secretary, Bonny Thorpe; Treasurer, Gene Carr; Reporter, Ada Mae Holt; Sargent-at-Arms, Kenneth Holmes; Student Council members, Virgil Wood, Phyllis Hansen, and Tommy Davis.

Our assembly was a Gay Ninety review. Help by our class sponsors, Miss Virginia Stauffer, and Mr. F. James Rybak made it a great success.

Our Junior year we spent most of our time getting ready for the Junior-Senior Prom and banquet.

Our class officers were President, Tommy Davis; Vice-President, George Worley; Secretary, Phyllis Hansen; Treasurer, Ronnie Pfof. Student Council representatives, Tommie Davis, Ronnie Pfof and Dolores Howard. Class reporter was Mary Lu Valk. Our sponsors were Mr. James Rybak and Miss Janet Wilson.

We started our Senior year with thirty-five members. In our first class meeting we chose as officers the following people, President, Dolores Howard; Vice-president, Virgil Wood; Secretary, Monica Giesken; Treasurer, Bill Stanton Sargent-at-Arms, Gene Carr; Reporter, Phyllis Hansen, Student Council members were Ada Mae Holt, Monica Giesken, and Jackie Dowling. Our main project this year was working on our annual.

With the help of our sponsors, Miss Janet Wilson and Mr. H. R. Dieterich, we have had a wonderful and successful year.

SENIOR CLASS WILL

Each member of the Senior Class wishes to leave some remembrance for the students who will be at Horace Mann next year. So, on the eighteenth day of May, the Senior Class makes its last will and testament.

Franklin Adams wishes to will Rose Ann Riley to all the "Bill's" here at Horace Mann.

Jackson Adams wills his crew cut to Walter Arms. He hopes Walter will find what enjoyment it is not to have to comb his hair.

I, George Atchison, leave my ability to go with "Froyds" to Dean Gard.

Barbara Beaver wills her swing to Betty Jenson. Be sure to make good use of it, Betty.

I, Bonnie Carpenter, will my place in the lunch room to Fannie Dee Knox. Good luck, Fannie Dee, you'll need it.

Gene Carr wills his right of being a "Privileged Character" to Dean Gard.

Donna Crocker wills her ability to get along with everyone at Horace Mann to Emma Litten.

Tommy Davis wills his ability to get things done, to anyone who needs it. Also, his height and hair to Stanley Stanton.

Jackie Dowling does not want to will anything because she wants to take him with her.

I, Beverly Fannon, will my quietness to Hazel Hollensbe. I think she can make use of it.

DeWitt Finney wills his football ability to Lester Hall. DeWitt hopes he develops it better than he did.

Mary Alice Garrison wills her love for Chemistry to Marjorie Miller.

I, Monica Giesken, will my ability to learn to drive to Lillian Cummins.

Rex Goodvin wills his basketball ability to Wayne Nelson.

Betty Hainey wills her dark hair and special diet to Wilma Jones. Betty hopes they come in as handy for Wilma as they did for her.

I, Phyllis Hansen, will my ability to look innocent to Avelina Rodriguez; also, my ability to get along with teachers.

Jean Hill, wills her 1951 New Years resolutions to anyone who can keep them.

Harold Holaday, wills his place on the Horace Mann football team to Ronnie Howard.

Kenny Holmes wills his seat on the south bus to any underclassman who is good at hitchhiking.

Ada Mae Wilmes wills her ability to slide through classes without any preparation to Pete Ebrecht. Don't look too far for it, Pete.

Delores Howard wills her voice and her love for music to Marian Alice Noe.

Beverly Hurst wills her ability to swim to anybody that doesn't know how. The only catch is that she doesn't know how.

Marjorie Jackson wills her love for Shorthand to Gaylene Walker. Marge hopes Gaylene enjoys it as much as she has.

Maureen Krenak wills her ability to skip school and not get caught to Dean Brewer.

La Veta McClurg wills her ability to get an engagement ring to Macil Kiser. I hope she gets it.

Larry Morehouse wills his cowboy boots to Dean Gard and states they must be polished every change of the weather.

Alfred O'Connell wills some of his height and ability to play basketball to Stanley Stanton.

Pat Ruhl wills her reducing secret to Betty Hutson that she received from Lavaun Leuthold. She hopes it does her more good than it did herself.

Sarah Scott wills her love to hurry through school to anyone who wants it.

Gerald Shell wills his ability to be quiet in the library to Robert Gragg. Ha Ha

Bill Stanton wills his love for the Navy to any young man who wants to stay out of the Infantry.

Bobby Smail wills Don Leuthold his ability to play basketball.

Mary Lu Valk hopes that Meredith Nystrom will continue to "string along" on her viola when she's gone. She advises her to get away from civilization when she practices.

Virgil Wood wills his seat on the south bus to any underclassman who is man or woman enough to hold it without having to hitch-hike.

PROPHECY

by Mary Lu Valk

The full glory of autumn had descended upon the Ozarks on the afternoon that I started my hike. It was a crisp October day, the trees had all turned color and I could see thin blue smoke rising from a cabin in the distance. Finding a site with a lovely view, I settled down and prepared to enjoy myself. There is no place like the Missouri Ozarks when it comes to just "settin'" and recalling the good old days and I had all afternoon to take it easy.

Suddenly I found I was recalling my arrival in the "home of the hillbillies" last night. I had been driving slowly, taking in the scenery with wide eyes, when I approached a pleasant little village. The first thing that caught my eye was an attractive inn called "The Holaday Resort". The sign said, "Why not spend your holidays here?" and I thought it might not be a bad idea. Imagine how surprised I was to find that Harold Holaday and his wife, the former Jackie Dowling, were the owners of the establishment! I decided at once that I must spend my vacation with them and catch up on some news from home.

Reaching into my knapsack, I pulled out a Readers Digest magazine that Jackie had put in for me, and began to glance through it. I noticed that it said "June 1970" and was several months old, but Jackie had told me that they were sort of off the beaten track and didn't get mail very often. I flipped the pages, searching for an article I hadn't read before, and stopped at one called "Bill's Pills" vs. Hadacol. I was about half way through the first paragraph when it dawned on me that the inventor was the same Bill Stanton who had graduated from high school with me. I had heard of the pills many times and realized that the long hours Bill had spent studying Chemistry in high school must have paid off. I was so absorbed in the article that I scarcely noticed a couple of large hunting dogs sniffing around me. Then shots rang out and I began to perk up. The Holadays had warned me that there were likely to be hunters around, but I had not taken them very seriously. Just then I caught sight of a large man tramping through the thicket, wearing a bright purple hunting cap. I was thinking to myself "Now who under the sun would wear a purple cap?" when more shots rang out and I had to yell "Hey, don't shoot me!" The man turned around and nearly dropped his gun when he saw me. "Well for ever more! If it isn't an old Horace Mann grad!" Then I recognized him as Mr. Dieterich and it was my turn to be surprised! He hardly looked a day older than when I knew him in high school, but he said the strain of life at Horace Mann had forced him to take a short vacation.

"So you're still at Horace Mann!" I exclaimed. "I should have known when I saw the purple cap". We chatted on like a couple of old timers and then I asked him if he could bring me up to date on some of my old classmates. "Monica Giesken, for instance," I said.

"Oh yes," Mr. Dieterich replied. "She and Maureen Krenek are secretaries for Senator Smail in Washington."

"Senator Smail!" I exclaimed. Surely you don't mean Bobby Smail who played on our basketball team when I was going to school?!"

"Yes, the same Bobby. He made quite a name for himself when he left Horace Mann and is doing very well in Washington."

It took a minute for consideration of that before I continued. "Mr. Dieterich, whatever happened to Sarah Scott?"

"Sarah? Oh, she and Mary Alice Garrison followed their ambitions to become nurses, and are now working around Maryville." Grinning, he added that they worked in close collaboration with George Atchison, local undertaker, since he usually got most of their patients sooner or later anyway.

We were both agreeing that Horace Mann graduates really got around in the world, when a seedy looking fellow came into view and we both remarked that he looked familiar. The man was giving his attention to a herd of goats and it wasn't until he got fairly close that we could see his features. Then Mr. Dieterich cried, "My word! It's Gene Carr!" I immediately noticed the resemblance between Gene and his role in the play "Sparkin'", of some twenty years ago. The greatest difference was that he had acquired a luxuriant crop of whiskers. We exchanged greetings and Gene sat down to join in our conversation. We told him that we were trying to keep track of '51 seniors and went over the information we had collected so far. Mr. Dieterich asked Gene what had become of his friend Kenny Holmes and Gene became very interested in telling us. "He's a psy-psychiatrist-what do you call them people?" "Psychiatrist?" I inquired helpfully. "Yep, that's it", said Gene beaming. I remembered that Kenny had a low, soothing voice, and decided that that was an ideal profession for him.

Eager to contribute my bit to the conversation, I asked, "Do you remember Jean Hill? I met her in Kansas City recently and she's become a successful interior decorator in a department store there. She also told me that Barbara Beaver and her husband lived near to her and said that Barbara had a thriving business of painting portraits for famous people." Both Mr. Dieterich and Gene were quite surprised by that news.

Suddenly Mr. Dieterich chuckled and asked me if I'd heard of Jackson Adams' latest adventure. When I replied that I hadn't, he said, "Well, Jackson's become a piano tuner and I understand he has quite a following. He advertises under the slogan, "Let Jack get them back in whack."

A lull developed in our conversation and we were all rather thoughtful. It was overwhelming to hear about so many people all at once. Finally, Gene asked, "Say, whatever happened to that there Dolores Howard?" Mr. Dieterich looked thoughtful and said, "Now I heard something about her just the other day." Then he brightened and exclaimed, "I know. Marjorie was telling me about the success she has been having recently on Broadway."

"Marjorie" I asked curiously. "Oh, didn't I tell you that Marjorie Jackson has been my office secretary for several years now?"

"My goodness, no," I said. I remembered that she had liked secretarial work and would be very capable. Mr. Dieterich went on by saying, "Of course Donna Crocker and Beverly Fannon are our lunch-room cooks and they put out some very tantalizing meals."

Gene was quite astounded by that one, and remarked "By golly, I'll bet you have a lot of fun back there at Horace Mann." "We do," Mr. Dieterich agreed. "It's fun to see students come along from the second generation. You know, Ada Mae Wilmes has a couple of youngsters in school now. LaVeta McClurg does, too, for that matter. She and her husband live over by Wilcox and I see them quite often."

I noticed that it was getting quite late, but I still had some questions in the back of my mind. I told them about Jackie's information that Bonnie Carpenter had become a librarian in Columbia. I remembered that she had had considerable practice in our Horace Mann library. "Jackie also told me that Pat Ruhl was having considerable success as a weather forecaster for a St. Joseph radio station." Gene slapped his knee and commented that "women make good weather reporters because they're so darn changeable."

Mr. Dieterich said, "You know, Beverly Hurst and Betty Hainey have been doing some interesting things lately. They've invented a device called a "footstep detector" and have a patent on it. I've been considering its use for tracing students who sneak out of study halls." I agreed that such an item could be put to good use.

Just then Gene interrupted by pointing a finger toward a child who was trudging along the road. "That's Bonny Thorpe's youngest child," he announced. "She and her husband live down the road a piece and they've got ten youngsters." Mr. Dieterich and I agreed that we would have to visit Bonny before we left and see all of her family.

All this time I had been wondering about Phyllis Hansen and now I had an opportunity to inquire about her. Mr. Dieterich looked at me sharply and said, "Surely you've heard about Phyllis! Why she's the first woman to become mayor of Maryville! Solving the city's parking problem has been a large factor toward her popularity."

Al O'Connell has recently become a local cop, and since he's always loved good law and order, he's very conscientious in his job. He even arrested Rex Goodvin for speeding the other day, but that was understandable since Rex is a local hot rod racer and quite a hero with the younger set."

Mr. Dieterich suddenly asked me "You don't know anything about Gerald Shell do you?" I shook my head and Gene came to the rescue. "Why sure! I seen him jest last Saturday night. He's a prominent St. Louis lawyer, and since his hobby is calling square dances, we have him come down every so often. We have some pretty hot dances on Saturday nights," Gene added. "I got talking to Gerald about Virgil Wood and Larry Morehouse. He had had a card from Virgil from Siam, where he'd been on a recent trip. Virgil's a successful pilot and flies all over the world in his plane "The Maryville Maniac." He also told me that Larry Morehouse owned several oil wells in Oklahoma and had done very well for himself, financially.

A sharp gust of wind reminded me of how late it was and I noticed that it would soon be getting dark. "What would you think of us going over to "The Holaday Resort" and having a grand reunion?" I suggested. They agreed that it would be a fine idea, so we gathered our belongings and started down the path. As we were leaving Gene said, "I've just been wondering about Tommy Davis. I don't know how we could have forgotten him for so long. I suppose he followed his ambition to become a veterinarian."

"Yes he did," said Mr. Dieterich. "He nearly killed my old cow last year, but on the other hand, he's pulled through a lot of my pets."

"By Jupiter, I believe we've thought of everybody," said Gene.

"I can only think of two more," I said. "DeWitt Finney and Franklin Adams."

"And I can tell you about both of them" announced Mr. Dieterich, triumphantly. "DeWitt is quite a famed farmer around Maryville and he's won numerous prizes for his production of alfalfa. Franklin has taken the ministry for his profession and uses his excess energy by pounding the pulpit at Wilcox every Sunday morning."

Hearing so many familiar names made me a little homesick and I said wistfully, "How I wish I could see our classmates again."

"Well, you can," said Mr. Dieterich. "Most of them come back for our annual alumni night--why don't you come too, next year?"

That sounded wonderful and I decided that I would be there. It would seem good to see Horace Mann again, and my classmates from the class of 1951.

JUNIOR CLASS HISTORY

On September 5, 1950, thirty-four Juniors enrolled at Horace Mann and began their work for the year.

Early in the school year election of class officers was held and the group selected the following officers: President, Jo Ann Cotter; Vice-President, Gene Beason; Secretary, Dean Gard; Treasurer, Macil Kiser; Sergeant-at-Arms, James (Pete) Ebrecht; Reporters, Rita Baer and Larry Boyd, first semester Student Council representatives, Lillian Cummins and Gordan Garrett; and for the last semester Rita Baer and Joan Griffey.

The Junior class was sponsored by Miss Rachael Taul and Mrs. Dean Dorman.

The class was honored when the student body elected Lillian Cummins as vice-president of the student body and Rose Ann Riley queen of homecoming.

In October, they presented their assembly, a talent program in which every member of the class took part.

In January, they sponsored an all-school party to raise money for the March of Dimes.

The whole year was busy for the class for they were active in their efforts to raise money for the annual Junior-Senior Prom.

The Juniors agree that this has been a good year and are looking forward to their senior year.

Sophomore Class History

In September 1949, fiftyone students entered Horace Mann as Freshmen, under the leadership of Miss Margaret Franken and Mr. David Crozier.

This year, with only a slight decrease, the enrollment of the Sophomore class was forty-nine students.

They chose their class officers as follows: President, Lester Hall; Vice-President, Stanley Stanton; Secretary and Treasurer, Colleen Froyd; Sergeant-at-Arms, Francis Blair; and Reporter, Joan Howard. Their student council representatives were; All-term, Beverly Porter; first semester, Betty Dougan and last semester Joan Howard.

The girls who are in chorus this year are: Norma Boyd, Jackie Bcsch, and Beverly Porter.

The boys who went out for football were: Walter Arms, Montra Dorman, Bob Growcock, Lester Hall, Richard Houston, and Francis Tompkins.

Those our for basketball were: Dick Mongold, Francis Blair, Lester Hall, Bob Growcock, Jack Patton, Harold Baker, Richard Houston, Stanley Stanton, and Francis Tompkins.

In December, the Sophomores presented the High school assembly. Lester Hall, the President, gave an introductory talk and this was followed by a film, "Yukon Flight."

The first party for the Sophomores, held December 7, had a winter-time theme. The evening was spent dancing, instructed by Mrs. Wayne Kinman.

The Sophomore activities for the latter part of the year were diverse, ranging from square dancing to selling hot dogs and putting on movies to finance the May Formal. The entire class continued to show the same fine cooperation that made their previous activities a pronounced success.

FRESHMAN CLASS HISTORY

In early September, 1950 about forty-five students enrolled at Horace Mann High School.

Mr. Elwyn DeVore and Miss Dorothy Weigand helped lead these students through the year. The class officers elected for the year were: President, Wayne Nelson; Vice-President, Wayne Jackson; Secretary, Helen Bowland; and Treasurer, Gerre Busby. The student council representatives were Shirley Dieterich and Gerre Busby.

The boys who participated in various sports are: Gerald Cooksey, Jerry Morin, Floyd Worley, Morris Pereguine, Kenneth Simmons, David Nystrom, Wayne Nelson, Wayne Jackson, Johnny Adams, Marvin McDonald, Elvin Long, Robert Gragg, Monty Fleenor, and Richard Dredge.

The girls who showed their talent in singing are: Gerre Busby, Kathlyn Taylor, Donna Potter, Shirley Dieterich, Grace Williams, and Norma Nuckolls.

The Freshman class presented an assembly during the school year which consisted of musical numbers, a short skit and two movie cartoons.

The freshman class candidates for Homecoming Queen and King were Gerre Busby and Wayne Nelson.

EIGHTH GRADE

This year the eighth grade class has had an extremely profitable year. We had five new students this year. They were Marian Larabee, Elizabeth Belt, Norville Harris, Larry Waugh, and Orville McElroy.

The eighth grade officers for this year were: President, Vonita Porter; Vice-President, Joyce Lyle; Secretary, Marlene Bishop; Treasurer, Iona Jackson; Student Council Representative, Meredith Nystrom; and Mirror Staff Reporters, Mary Inez Howland and Manning Chase.

The eighth grade class has five Girl Scouts, all of whom have received Curved Bars, which is the highest honor one can receive in Girl Scouting. They are: Marlene Bishop, Barbara Garten, Mary Howland, Iona Jackson, and Meredith Nystrom. We also have an Eagle Boy Scout, Manning Chase.

The eighth grade girls' sextette is composed of Verlene Schmidt, Vonita Porter, Louise Gray, Jean Munsey, Mary Inez Howland and Meredith Nystrom.

Five members of our class play in the orchestra. They are: Verlene Schmidt, cello; Meredith Nystrom, viola; Vonita Porter, clarinet; Mary Inez Howland, violin; and Kenneth Fisher, trumpet. On May 22, two members of our class gave a piano and violin recital. They were Meredith Nystrom and Mary Inez Howland, respectively.

All together we have had a year full of fun.

SEVENTH GRADE

The seventh grade of Horace Mann High School is sponsored by Mrs. Pauline Arthur and Mr. Stephen Kyrias. At the first of the year we elected officers and decided to elect officers for each quarter. The ones for the last quarter were: President, Jerry Schneider; Vice-President, Fay Dean Gilbert; Secretary, Beverly Lyle; Treasurer, William Loy; and Student Council Representative for the whole year, Rosellyn Ringold.

We have two students, Anita McIntyre and May Catherine Ruhl, who have gone to Horace Mann since they enrolled in nursery school. Jerry Schneider and Rosellyn Ringold joined us in the kindergarten class.

DRAMATICS CLUB

The Dramatics Club is a very active organization in our school. The purpose of this organization is to help train students who are interested in dramatics work, to provide entertainment for assemblies and other school activities, and to help students learn to appreciate and to enjoy acting and other features of the theatre.

This year four one-act plays were presented on the evening of January 26. The plays were: "Dust of the Road", "Not Quite Such a Goose", "Objections Overruled", and "Sparkin".

The play cast for "Dust of the Road" included: Phyllis Hansen, Kenneth Holmes, Virgil Wood, and Larry Boyd.

Dean Gard, Shirley Froyd and Hazel Hollensbe were in "Objections Overruled".

The cast for "Not Quite Such A Goose", included: Kathryn Taylor, Lester Hall, Gerre Busby, Wayne Jackson, and Joan Griffey.

The cast for "Sparkin" was: Dolores Howard, Ada Mae Wilmes, Macil Kiser, and Gene Carr.

The officers for the year were as follows: President, Max Nelson; Vice-President, Jo Ann Cotter; Secretary, Rose Ann Riley; Treasurer, Joyce Lance; and Reporter, Betty Hutson. Miss Dorothy Weigand was our sponsor.

GLEE CLUB

Every Tuesday and Thursday at 3:00, strains of harmony could be heard floating up into the upper hall from the music room. This music was coming from the throats of the girls who were in Glee Club. Under the direction of Miss Ruth Miller this group has contributed to assemblies several times during the year, has sung for Parent's Night, for the WSCS Christmas Party at the Methodist church, and entered the Spring Contest, where they received a "I" rating.

Singing in the soprano section were Betty Jenson, Dolores Howard, Jo Ann Cotter, Evelyn Finter, Joan Griffey, Marian Alice Noe, Deloyce Harrington, Norma Boyd, and Rose Ann Riley.

Seconds: Barbara Taylor, Lillian Cummins, Betty Hutson, Shirley Froyd, Norma Nucholls, Shirley Dieterich, Jean Hill, Jackie Bosch, and Mary Garrison.

Altos: Kathlyn Taylor, Donna Potter, Colleen Froyd, Beverly Porter, Gerre Busby, and Mary Lu Valk.

ORCHESTRA

The noisiest room in Horace Mann at three o'clock on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday has undoubtedly been 129, better known as the Music Room. At such times, the squeaks, blasts, booms, and other musical intentions that reached your ears, were brought to you with the best wishes of the Horace Mann Orchestra.

One could always see an odd array of musical activity during the first minutes of the hour. There was always a general stampede to have first choice of Music stands, the tuning of instruments, someone passing out music, and the usual confusion and gaiety that come when members of the orchestra got together. You might even have spotted our director Mr. Donald Sandford, struggling to tune a cello, or wondering if there was glue on the string bass pegs.

Thus, the orchestra has continued in its second year of existence, blending talents together, and constantly striving toward improvement. The group made its first appearance of the year in a fall assembly program, played carols in the lower halls before Christmas vacation, and furnished music for the Senior Play. They also played several numbers as part of a Music Week concert.

Plans to attend another youth concert by the Kansas City Philharmonic Orchestra began germinating in the late fall, and on December 7, the eagerly anticipated trip was taken. Since $40 was needed to take the new Bearcat bus to Kansas City, the orchestra sold homemade candy twice and sponsored a movie. The day brought many memorable experiences and everyone enjoyed the concert in beautiful Music Hall. Chaperones for the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sandford, Mrs. Dale Howland, and our student teacher, Mr. Stan Summers.

Since most members of the orchestra are in Junior High or are underclassmen, our chances for progress are excellent. The orchestra is eager to continue and new members are always welcome. Many instruments can be rented from the college, and group instruction is provided for beginners.

Officers elected for this year were Colleen Froyd, President; Mary Lu Valk, Secretary; and Betty Jenson, Reporter.

The personnel was as follows; violins, Deloyce Harrington, Mary Inez Howland, Colleen Froyd, Janeth Willis, Madeline Mongold, Rosellyn Ringold, Betty Hutson, and Joan Griffey; cellos, Shirley Dieterich, Ronnie McNutt, Betty Jensen, and Verlene Schmidt; string bass, Barbara Taylor; violas, Mary Lu Valk, and Meredith Nystrom; flute, Hollis White; clarinets, Anita McIntyre, Kathlyn Taylor, Vonita Porter, JoAnn Cotter, and Lillian Cummins; trumpets, Evelyn Finter, Gordon Garrett, Kenneth Fisher, and Elvin Long; percussion, Marion Alice Noe and Larry Boyd; saxophones, Shirley Froyd and Walter Arms.

GIRLS TRIO

"Oh, I can't take a walk with you this noon." Why not? "Because we have trio practice." Such a reply kept this enthusiastic organization, with the help of Miss Diane Dressler, student teacher, going strong.

The girls trio, which is composed of Betty Jenson, soprano; Barbara Taylor, second; and Delores Howard, alto; was busy every Wednesday and Friday noon. This group has sung for the student body many times during the year. They have also made several public appearances: at the 20th Century Club, at the Lions Club, and at country school programs. The members are from the same community. All three girls graduated from the Ireland school, northwest of Maryville. At the present time, the trio is working and slaving on contest numbers and who knows, there might be honors in the offing.

GIRLS TRIPLE TRIO

One of the most active organizations at Horace Mann has been the Girls' Triple Trio. This group practiced on Monday noon, and Friday mornings.

The members were: sopranos, Betty Jenson, Jo Ann Cotter, and Joan Griffey; Seconds, Barbara Taylor, Betty Hutson, and Kathlyn Taylor; Altos, Lillian Cummins, Dolores Howard, and Coleen Froyd. Miss Diane Dressler, student teacher, was the director of this group.

The girls have sung in many assemblies, for the WSCS Christmas Party at the Methodist Church, the 20th Century Club, and at the Horace Mann Christmas Party. They also participated in the Spring Contest. They will sing for the Baccalaureate Services in May.

MIRROR STAFF

This year's Mirror staff, under the supervision of Miss Dorothy Weigand, edited a very timely school newspaper. The cooperative and efficient staff members were, Phyllis Hansen, Barbara Beaver, Mary Alice Garrison, Hazel Hollensbe Evelyn Finter, Marion Alice Now, Pat Ruhl, and Joyce Lance.

NEWMAN CLUB

The Junior Newman Club of Horace Mann High School is a division of the Newman Club of the college and is a member of the international organization.

The ideals of the club are: Sincerity, intellectual honesty, humanity, courage, and manliness.

Officers of the club are: President, Monica Gieskem; Vice-President, Donna Crocker; Secretary-Treasurer, Ada Mae Wilmes; Reporter, Mary Ann Linneman.

The Club enjoyed two programs given the first semester. They were on the Motion Picture Films, "The Rosary, and "The Prayer for World Peace."

The activity of the year was a sale of popcorn balls to raise money for food and clothing to send to Korea.

The social events included a dance, a canasta party, and a pre-Easter luncheon. The party for the Seniors climaxed the social affairs of the year.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council is one of the most active organizations in the Horace Mann High School. The purpose of this group is to get the student view-point on matters of interest to them, and to aid in what ways they can with the operation of the school.

Each year they arrange for the schedule of assemblies, plan the monthly all-school parties, assist with Parents' Night, work with the Physical Education Department in planning noon hour activities and sponsor drives such as raising money for Red Cross, March of Dimes and Easter Seals.

The Horace Mann Council is one of the most active in the state. Three years ago they helped organize the state organization and each year send delegates to this meeting. This year ten delegates and their sponsor attended the meeting in Warrensburg. Miss Rachael Taul is our sponsor and serves on the Executive committee of the state group.

The third student council conference of this district was held March 31 at our school. This project of our council is of great help to our group for it gives them experience in planning and is of a service to schools in the area for it gives the students the opportunity to meet together to discuss their problems.

The Student Council consists of two members from each class. Officers for the year: first semester, President, Phyllis Hansen; Vice-President, Tommy Davis; Secretary, Colleen Froyd; and Sergeant-at-Arms, Francis Blair. Second semester officers were: President, Tommy Davis; Vice-President, Lillian Cummins; Secretary, Betty Dougan, and Sergeant at-Arms, Wayne Jackson.

G. R. A.

G. R. A. is a noon hour activity for the girls. It is a voluntary organization sponsored by Miss Jutten. The sports played are: basketball, bolleyball, and softball.

The basketball tournament was won by the Senior team. The captain was Beverly Fannon. Other captains and teams were: Jo Ann Cotter, Junior; Lillian Cummins, Junior; Yvonne Blair, Sophomore; Shirley King, Sophomore; Norma Nucholls and Darlene Baer, Freshman.

The captains in the volleyball tournament were: Hyllis Hansen, Senior; Rose Ann Riley and Emma Lee Litten, Junior; Verlene Brown, Sophomore; Shirley King, Sophomore and Shirley Dieterich, Freshman.

A softball tournament was held in the spring.

After two years of active participation, a letter is given and after three years a pin is awarded.

The officers this year are all juniors. They are: President, Emma Lee Litten; Vice-President, Macil Kiser; Secretary, Rose Ann Riley; and Reporter, Rita Baer.

PEP SQUAD

The members of the Pep Squad or Purple Peppers, along with their sponsor, Miss Taul, have done their best during the year to fill up the cheering section for Horace Mann. At every ball game you would have seen Miss Taul and many of the Pep Squad members dressed in purple and white, cheering the boys on for a victory.

They chose their officers for the year as follows: President, Betty Jenson; Vice-President, Ada Mae Wilmes; Secretary and Treasurer, Joan Griffey; Sergeant-at-arms, Barbara Taylor; and reporter, Joan Howard. The assistant sponsor was Miss Janet Wilson.

The cheerleaders for the year were; Betty Dougan, Colleen Froyd, and Tommy Davis. The alternate cheerleaders were Barbara Beaver and Jackson Adams.

F. H. A.

The Future Homemakers of America met for their first meeting on October 18, 1950. Miss Janet Wilson, our sponsor, assisted us in the election of our officers. They are as follows: President, Sarah Scott; Vice-president, Shirley Dieterich; Secretary, Grace Williams; Treasurer, Joan Griffey; Reporter, Lois Allen; Parliamentarian, Barbara Taylor; and Song Leader, Jean Hill. These officers were installed during a ceremony held during the Christmas tea for our mothers on December 18, 1950.

We also fixed a basket for a needy family in Maryville. The F.H.A. members sold homemade candy at noon hours, and they also sold at a basketball game. The group attended the sub-district conference, and have made plans for the State and National Conference. We were affiliated with the State and National Chapters in the fall of 1950.

CAMERA CLUB

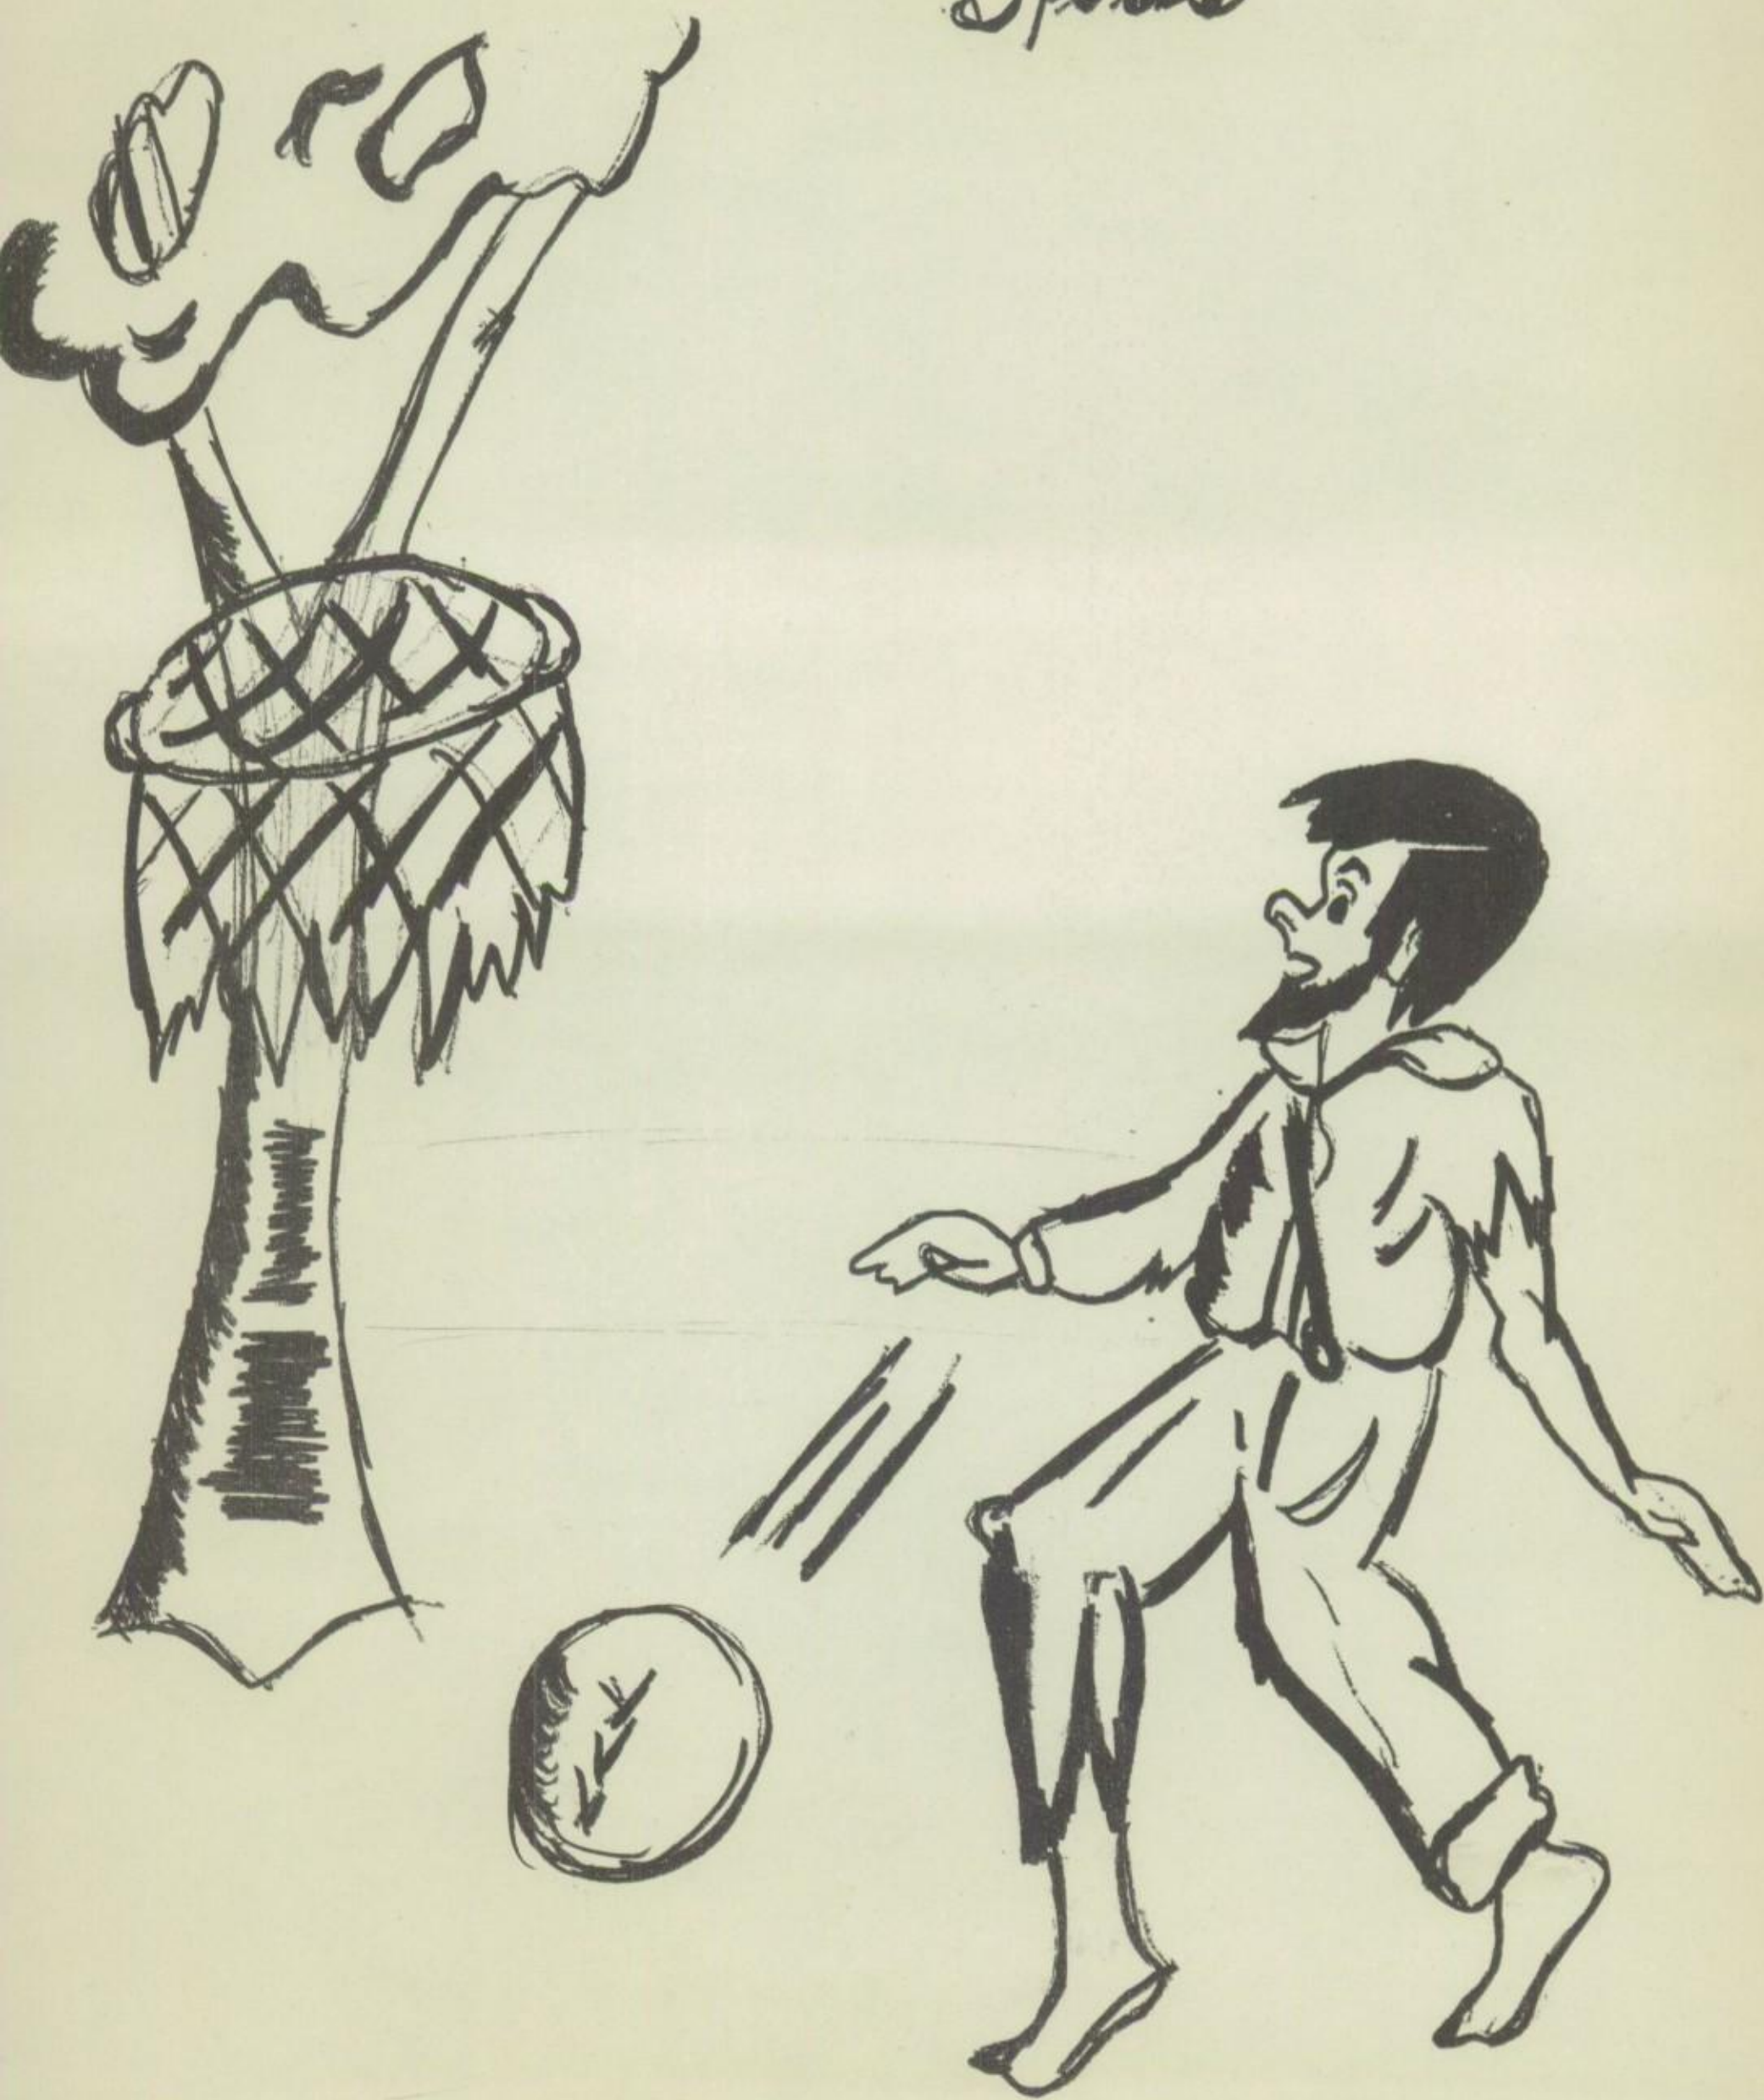

Camera Club members not only have the fun of taking and developing pictures, but automatically learn some of the fundamentals of Photography. To these young photographers "a fiftieth at F8" soon becomes as meaningful as "watch the birdie".

T. A. B. CLUB

Last year the Seventh and Eighth Grades started the Teen Age Book Club, and we enjoyed it very much.

The idea of this club is to get students to read more books. First the students read the kind of book they want, then they pick out an interesting part in the book and make a skit. This is supposed to interest the students in reading these books. Mrs. Arthur, our sponsor has done a great job, in helping us promote T. A. B. Club.
